

INDEX REBALANCING TRADER

Founded in 2011, the Maven organisation engages in proprietary trading & market making activities across global financial markets. Its offices are based near Liverpool St Station in central London and the organisation has over 60 employees.

Maven is looking for an index rebalancing trader to join current team of two on the index rebalance portfolio. This is a full-time permanent position and will be based in London. Remuneration comprises of an annual base salary, benefits and discretionary bonus.

ROLE SPECIFICATIONS

- Trading index events in either Europe, US or Asia;
- Day to day trading, position and risk management;
- Working closely with members of the desk to enhance global returns of the index rebalance book; &
- Incorporating firm values into day-to-day role.

CANDIDATE SPECIFICATIONS

Required:

- Several years' experience managing an index rebalance portfolio;
- Willingness to trade during different market hours; &
- Have a proven performance track-record within the index-rebalance space.

Desirable:

- Ideas to improve and contribute to an already existing index desk.

To apply for this role, please send your CV and cover letter to hr@mavensecurities.com.